

Recently AEA has been approved as a registered provider by the New South Wales Institute of Teachers. In this role AEA has identified two areas of concern where teachers need particular support. As such they are excited to offer “Teaching within a Digital Universe” and “Educational Alchemy, Transforming Relationships within the Learning Environment”.

The AQTF is embedded within these fields of learning presenting teachers with innovative opportunities to embrace the digital universe within their classrooms and meet curriculum outcomes.

What makes this initiative so exciting is that the courses are heavily driven by the interaction amongst participants and with the course facilitator. Learning embraces a new educational paradigm and helps teachers to develop tangible processes for their teaching, learning cycle.
