

Code of Conduct
TMLE Pty Ltd - 21 December 2010

Teach Me Law Enforcement
Code of Practice
November 2006

Teach Me Law Enforcement acknowledges and delivers training under guidance of the Vocational Education Training Act 2005

Teach Me Law Enforcement recognises all Registered Training Organisations qualifications and Statement Of Attainments for RPL enrolment purposes

Staff from Teach Me Law Enforcement practice EEO, Anti Discrimination and practice access and equity to all participants

Teach Me Law Enforcement will encourage staff to develop their own professional ability and ongoing self improvement

Teach Me Law Enforcement recognises the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act, 1998 and respects the privacy of participant's personal details and results

Teach Me Law Enforcement operates in accordance with the AQTF guidelines

Participants are encouraged to interact in lessons to appreciate the value of adult learning

Teach Me Law Enforcement will assist anyone who wishes to complete a course however through a disability, language or numeracy barrier it would not be possible, by referring that person to an agency who may assist them in reaching their goal.

Teach Me Law Enforcement expects staff and students to act in an ethical manner at all times

Teach Me Law Enforcement is committed to delivering training which best reflects current practice and methods

Any person (staff or student) entering into a training venue which is being conducted by TMLE and is considered intoxicated, aggressive, abusive, antisocial or is behaving in a way to others which may intimidate, harass, discriminate or threaten that person will be expelled from the course and will be reported.

S.Miller
Chief Executive Officer
TMLE Pty Ltd
21 December 2010